

How we organize and store our photos.

Almost everyone stores their images in folders on their computer, some by date, and some by subject. Many use an external hard drive (Western Digital and Drobo were mentioned). Some use Elements Catalogue to organize their images; some use Lightroom. Everyone who backup their images (and this was the majority) backup to a CD/DVD, flash drive or external drive. No one uses an online backup service. David Lipton mentioned ScanMyPhotos (<http://scanmyphotos.com>) a company that will scan your photos for a very reasonable price. They also will scan negative, or slides.
